Lisbon, Nov. 29.

THE Royal Nuptials have been celebrated with extraordinary Rejoycings: The 15th, 17th, and 21st, their Majesties were diverted with a Bull-Feast in the open Square before the Palace. For that Occasion a large and noble Theatre was erected; the Nobility came in very splendid Habits, their Coaches and Equipages being very magnificent; and there was a mighty Concourse of People; the whole Appearance was very gay, and the fair Weather contributed not a little to the Pleasure of the Entertainment. Their Majesties, the Court, and all the other Spectators shew'd themselves extremely pleas'd; and no Person receiv'd any Mischief. The Imperial Ambassador was twice to see this Show, from the Windows of the Palace; and was allow'd Precedency of Place by the Counsellors, next to whom was the British Ambassador, and after him the Ministers of the second Order each in his Rank. The Night of the 22d a noble Firework, very well contriv'd, was let off before the Palace. It represented a Patterne, adorn'd with Trees, and a Fountain. Another extraordinary Firework is erecting, and is design'd to be play'd off for the Conclusion of these Rejoycings, which will be after their Majesties have been together at the Cathedral; in order to which a very fine Coach is making, and Triumphal Arches are almost finish'd. The 24th sail'd from hence for England and Holland 7 Men of War, with a Fleet of Merchant Ships under their Convoy. The English who accompanied the Queen hither, are gone back with these Ships; and were treated here with great Distinction by the King's Order. The Present made to Colonel Godfrey, is worth 300 l. that to Sir George Bing 1500 l. that to Sir John Jennings 700 l. The Captain of Sir George Bing's Ship had a Ring given him, and a Gold Chain with the King's Picture; all the other Captains of the Squadron which brought her Majesty, had a like Chain of Gold; and above 1000 Pistoles were distributed among the Subalterns and Seamen. The same Day we receiv'd the Confirmation of the taking of the City of Lisse, and of Port Mahon; which good News increas'd the publick Joy. Recruits are order'd to be made in the Provinces for the ensuing Campaign; but will require some time to raise them.

An Extract from the Register of the Resolutions of their High Mightinesses the States General of the united Netherlands.

Die Martis, November 20. 1708.

THE Council of State appearing in a Body before the Assembly, presented to their High Mightinesses, according to their Duty and usual Care, their general Petition for the Consent of the Provinces to the Establishments of the War, ordinary and extraordinary, for the Year 1709: Which Petition being read in the Presence of the Council of State, and their High Mightinesses having deliberated thereupon, they thank'd the said Council of State for their Diligence, Pains, and Zeal, in drawing up the said Petition and Establishments of War; as they are hereby thank'd: And also thought fit and resolv'd, that the foresaid general Petition and Establishments of War, shall be sent to the States of the respective Provinces, to the End they may give such Consent thereto, or Order thereupon; as they shall think good respectively; And to that End the foremention'd general Petition and Establishments of War, shall with all Expedition, Night and Day, without any Loss of Time, be copied out. Also on this Occasion 'tis further thought fit and resolv'd, that by a Letter it shall be represented to Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain, that their High Mightinesses considering the present Circumstances of Affairs, particularly with Respect to the Campaign in the Spanish Netherlands, and hoping they will speedily have a good Issue, cannot omit in the first Place to thank her Majesty for the Troops and Ammunition which Her Majesty has caus'd to be sent thither, over and above what she formerly had there; and then to lay before her, that the present State of things consider'd, it will be absolutely necessary, as well for maintaining the Advantages already (by God's Blessing) obtain'd, as for improving them, and for bringing the Enemy to Terms of a good and secure Peace, not only that all the Allies continue their Efforts, but that as much as possible they should augment them; That their High Mightinesses being intirely of Opinion, that this is the most proper and only Means to make a good End of the War, and to obtain the Aim propos'd by the Alliance, do heartily wish they were in a Condition to set an Example in this Particular (as in others) to the rest; but that to their Grief they must avow, that the extraordinary great Efforts they have been oblig'd to make, even before the War actually broke out, and which they have increas'd from Year to Year, have disabled them, and that it will be difficult for them to continue to exert themselves in the same Proportion as at present: That nevertheless, they will endeavour to find out Means to do more, if it be any way possible: But that, Her Majesty, considering how very potent her Kingdoms are, has more and greater Resources (or Means in Store) than this State; and therefore shall be sollicitous to augment her Forces as much as well may be; thereby to animate the other Allies to do the like. And the Letter on this Subject, together with a Copy of this Resolution, shall be sent to M. van Vrybergen, their High Mightinesses Envoy extraordinary at the Court of Her said Majesty; that he may deliver the said Letter, and second the Purport of it with his Instances in the best Manner. Their High Mightinesses resolv'd further, that Letters shall be written to the Emperour, the Diet of the Empire at Ratisbon, and to the respective Circles, Electors, Princes, and States of the Empire, exhorting them to augment their Efforts against the ensuing Campaign, and to have all ready in Time. Lastly, M. Brockhuyzen and others their High Mightinesses's Deputies for military Affairs, are hereby required and appointed, in Conjunction with such Persons whom the Council of State shall nominate from among themselves, to deliberate and consider whether Means may be found for the State to make any Augmentation of Troops, and to report their Sentiments thereupon to the Assembly of their High Mightinesses.
